

GERMANS AGAIN FORCED BACK WEST OF WARSAW

SUPERIOR NUMBERS OF CZAR'S MEN PROVE TOO MUCH FOR THE INVADERS NEAR POLISH CITY

German Offensive Expected in West Where Attempt May be Made to Cross the Aisne at Soissons — Russian Victory Over Turks Decisive.

By Associated Press.

London, Jan. 18.—London is recalling that this is the forty-fourth anniversary of the proclamation of Wilhelm the I, the German emperor, and in the British capital it is expected that the day will bring news of a widespread German effort, to follow up with a still more important move than the success achieved last week in the neighborhood of Soissons. In London it is believed that the Germans have adopted what is virtually a defensive role to the west of Warsaw—some British observers arguing that this has been forced upon them by superior Russian numbers—and that these defensive tactics synchronize with the movement of many thousand of Teutonic troops from Poland to the French and Belgian battlefields.

The fighting at Soissons some British commentators declare to be the precursor of the entry of these new troops upon a vigorous offensive, perhaps an attempt to cross the river Aisne.

At Soissons the French failed to hold their positions on the northern bank of the river and for the Germans to attempt to gain the southern bank is regarded as a development to be expected.

As to future engagements in this region it appears to be a fact that the French artillery on the hills south of the Aisne command all the approaches to the river and that it will have to be reckoned with.

In the eastern arena of the war the steady pressure, which the arrival of 1,000,000 of last year's levies has enabled the Russians to exert upon the Germans, according to news dispatches reaching London, has been slowly pushing back the German line to the west of Warsaw.

News dispatches today report the Russian reoccupation of Plock. This report has not been confirmed officially.

The Russian defeat of the Turks, if the claims of Petrograd are fully borne out, were so decisive that it may mark the close of the Ottoman attempt to invade Russian in the Caucasian region. The Russian victory probably will free enough of the Caucasian army to oppose effectively the Turkish forces which are approaching the frontier further eastward through Persia.

SAYS CONTROL IN ONE OFFICE

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 18.—Samuel Untermyer testified today before the investigation of the Federal Industrial Relations Commission into the great incorporated philanthropic institutions, asserted that the shareholders in corporations that have been reorganized by banking interests have absolutely no voice in the management, the directors and trustees being controlled by the banks, and that the situation had narrowed down in railroad matters until a question affecting labor conditions could almost be decided from one office.

He stated further that the "illicit gathering" of large amounts of money had caused much poverty.

The Commission plans to hear J. P. Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Geo. W. Perkins, John Hayes Hammond, Andrew Carnegie, Dr. Chas. W. Elliot, John Mitchell, Samuel Gompers, Henry Ford and other prominent men and women.

GUTIERREZ HAS TROOPS AT HAND

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 18.—When Gen. Gutierrez left Mexico City yesterday morning he took with him most of the troops garrisoning the capital. State department advices indicate that Gutierrez's present command is 5,000 strong and officials here infer that few soldiers remained in the capital.

The State Department is anxious to know whether Gutierrez has abandoned all claims to the provisional presidency.

So far there has been no confirmation of reports that Villa and Zapata have broken off friendly relations.

CLASH NEAR IN BUCKEYE COAL FIELDS

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 18.—A number of mines in the eastern Ohio coal field were opened today on the open-shop basis, but reports to the offices of the United Mine Workers declare that comparatively few men were at work.

Fifty men entered one of the pits of the Rail and River Coal Company but were persuaded by union leaders later in the day, to go home.

The Glen Run Coal Company has opened its mine at Rush Run and expects to open mines at Dillonvale and Jug Run later in the week.

Large numbers of striking miners are employed putting the works in condition for operation, but it is declared by their leaders they will not work as non-union miners.

The first definite eviction orders are scheduled to go into effect tomorrow at Rush Run, five families being affected. Tents are being provided for them by the union.

FLOOD OF BILLS IS AT HAND

By Associated Press.

Columbus, O., Jan. 18.—A flood of bills and resolutions providing for legislative investigations were ready for introduction in both houses of the assembly when they met late today, the third week of the present session.

Speaker Conover was ready to announce appointment of committees and the rules committee, which met early in the day, expected to report its recommendation on rules for the session.

Senator Moor of Jefferson has a bill which would remove probably 95 per cent of the employees, now in state, county, municipal, township and school service, from the protection of civil service, by eliminating the non-competitive examination feature of the present law.

Hamilton county dry interests had a bill ready for introduction providing that every bar in the state should be closed at 10 p. m.

D. OF C. WILL REMAIN WET

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—The Senate defeated today, 40 to 38, the motion to suspend its rules for consideration of a prohibition rider to the District of Columbia appropriation bill.

A two-thirds majority was necessary to suspend the rules prohibiting general legislation in appropriation bills and the motion failed to receive even a majority. Debate has lasted five days.

PROPERTY LOSS IN QUAKE WILL EXCEED $60,000,000

By Associated Press.

Rome, Jan. 18.—Rescue work, throughout the wilderness created by the earthquake last Wednesday, continues slowly and under great difficulties.

Each excavation serves to verify earlier reports of the probable casualties, though here and there, despite the fact that five days have elapsed since the catastrophe, living victims are being released from their prisons of crumbling plaster and fallen timbers.

Thousands of soldiers and civilians, including many members of the nobility, gradually are systematizing the relief work and are getting food and shelter supplies over the obstructed roads to stricken towns and villages.

The relief work now, however, overshadows the rescue efforts. The Pope, according to a report, has sent aid to all the bishops in the earthquake zone.

A fund of $4,000,000 has been received by the Pope thus far. About 7,500 refugees, 2,000 of them injured, have been reached to date.

The probable property loss, as indicated by one estimate, will exceed $60,000,000. No official figures are as yet available.

In dozens of villages citizens who escaped with their lives are still fearful that new shocks will tumble their buildings about their heads and are camping out to avoid further danger.

The greatest care is being exercised to avert disease epidemics.

Parents still continue to effect reunions, in isolated instances, with their children and children with their parents, but in most cases the searchers, after frantic efforts, come on the bodies of the members of their families and faint hope is transformed to sorrow.

FINE PROGRAM DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

A very brilliant program was presented at Conservatory hall Saturday evening, the work of the Senior class, assisted by two of the Faculty members, Miss Esther Leland and Miss Goldie Ryan.

The music was exceptionally good, each young pianist doing brilliant work and on the opening number on three pianos to the closing quartet, there was not a dull note.

A charming chorus was sung, with its composer, Miss Goldie Ryan the accompanist.

Miss Helen McCoy rendered a fine monologue. The attractive young reader possesses a well cultivated voice and admirable self-possession.

Too much cannot be said of the manner in which the one-act play, "Two Jolly Bachelors", was put on.

Miss Leland, always a favorite, was never seen to better advantage and Miss McCoy won instant recognition by her splendid response to Miss Leland's vivacious lead.

It was a finished bit of acting and showed the splendid training given in the Conservatory Dramatic department.

The audience evinced appreciation by giving the two young women a persistent curtain call.

The musical numbers were rendered by Miss Goldie Ryan, Martha McCoy, Dorothy Bush, Helen McKee, Gertrude Miller, Margaret Schneider and were highly creditable to both Seniors and instructors.

SCARLET FEVER CLOSES SCHOOL

The appearance of a case of scarlet fever at the Paul school, on the Lewis pike, has resulted in Supt. J. M. Hartman, acting upon the advice the health officer, issuing an order that the school be closed for at least two weeks until danger or the threatened epidemic dies away.

A member of the Sam Minshall family contracted the disease and became ill while at school, exposing a number of other pupils to the disease.

Mr. Wm. M. Campbell was a business visitor in Columbus Monday.

SCORE RESCUED FROM RUINS

Estimate of the Number of Dead Remains in the Neighborhood of 40,000, Fifty Towns and Villages Having Been Destroyed—Italian Government Pushing Work of Relief, Scenes in Stricken Zone of Italy.

Rome, Jan. 18.—The government appropriated the sum of $250,000 for the relief of the earthquake sufferers. This sum will be added to in any amount needed, as Italy is prepared to handle the situation without aid from outside and to use the national resources to the fullest extent.

Pope Benedict paid another visit to the injured in the hospice of Santa Marta and spent an hour consoling the victims. Many men and women of the nobility have volunteered as nurses in the various hospitals and the prefect of Rome has requisitioned beds in many hotels for the use of the survivors.

The government observatory announces that since the morning of Jan. 13, 185 shocks have been registered on the seismographic instruments. All of these are what is known as after-shocks, recurring at intervals after the main quake and generally of slight force.

A detachment of soldiers excavating in the girls' school at Avezzano saved two girls. There are many crushed bodies, but also many of the scholars are yet alive in the debris and they are calling out in agony and begging the military to save them.

This incentive has driven the soldiers to the most frantic efforts and they are working feverishly, not stopping to eat or sleep even until all the girls are saved. A young man who escaped from the wreck of his home saved his sisters unaided, but was unable to find his father. His fiancée lies buried alive in a nearby house and efforts to rescue her have proved fruitless, yet she unceasingly begs her lover to save her, crying to him that if he loves her he will find a way to get her out. The man is maddened with grief and his condition has made even the hardened soldiers weep.

King Victor arrived in Sora and visited the injured in the hospital which has been improvised in the prison. He distributed relief to the soldiers personally, supervised the rescue work and ordered an increased supply of provisions for the survivors, especially of bread. He also had reinforcements of troops sent from Rome.

Number of Dead 40,000.

The estimate of the number of dead remains in the neighborhood of 40,000. Fifty towns and villages have ben destroyed. The mortality in the country, where many farmhouses and buildings collapsed, is as yet unascertained.

Among the communities which suffered a heavy death toll are the following: Avezzano, 11,000 dead; Pescina, 4,500; Sora, 4,000; Celano, 3,000; Ortucchio, 2,400; Cerchio, 2,350; Maglianomaso, 1,700; Collarmele, 1,700; Capelle, 1,200; Marsi, 1,000; Balsorano, 1,000; Paerno, 1,000; Morino, 1,000.

In Avezzano three babies, only slightly injured, have been taken from the ruins. Four children, the oldest eleven, were also found. Although exhausted, they kept shouting until they were saved. They promised the soldiers who dug them out that their father would pay them, but he was found dead in the ruins near by.

At Isoladellirio, the main church collapsed completely and is reduced to a heap of ruins, but the statue of St. Restituta, the town's patron saint, was untouched and is intact, even to the finger on a hand which is raised in blessing.

The war office has increased the supplies of bread and other provisions which are being sent to the earthquake zone, and is rushing additional reinforcements which are urgently needed, especially for the burial of the thousands of bodies which are piled up in many places and are beginning to menace public health.

The inhabitants of Balsorano and Raccaviva are fleeing in a panic because of the immense crevasses splitting lengthwise the crest of Mount Pizzodetta, 6,100 feet high, due to the earthquake.

A terrible feature of the destruction is that many of the survivors have gone raving mad and are wandering about in the desolated areas, some so violent that the soldiers have to use force to subdue them.

DEFENDER OF PORT ARTHUR IS DEAD

London, Jan. 18.—The death of Lieutenant General Anatole Mikhalovitch Stoessel, the defender of Port Arthur, is announced in a Petrograd dispatch to Reuter's Telegram company. General Stoessel had suffered from paralysis for several months.

Lieutenant General Stoessel was famous as the commander of the Russian troops at Port Arthur during the Russo-Japanese war. After he had held out there for three months against the furious onslaughts of the Japanese, Stoessel, his ammunition all but exhausted and his men virtually without food, surrendered the fortress to General Nogai. For this action he was condemned to death on Feb. 20, 1905, by a courtmartial. This sentence, however, was commuted by Emperor Nicholas to ten years' imprisonment. He was released from confinement from the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul the following year by order of Emperor Nicholas.

GRANDSON BORN IN THE WHITE HOUSE

President Wilson a Grandfather at Age of 59.

Washington, Jan. 18. — President Wilson at the age of fifty-nine years is a grandfather.

The president's first grandchild, a boy, was born to Mrs. Frances Bowes Sayre at the White House Sunday evening. His arrival was announced two hours later by Secretary Tamm in this statement:

"Dr. Grayson, the White House physician, states that Mrs. Sayre gave birth to a fine boy. Everything went perfectly and both are well." The newcomer at the White House weighed just six and one-half pounds.

There was every evidence, however, that the arrival of little Mr. Sayre in the White House was an event that had deeply stirred everybody in the historic mansion from the president down. For one thing, it was the first time that there had been a birth in the White House since the administration of President Cleveland, the last child born there being Esther Cleveland.

President Wilson did not wait long after learning of the arrival of his grandson before paying his profound respects to him. The boy's aunts, Miss Margaret Wilson and Mrs. McAdoo, wife of the secretary of the treasury, also were there for a delighted glimpse of the first boy in their family for two generations.

Mrs. Sayre came to the White House to spend the Christmas holidays and remained there for the expected event. Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, the second daughter of the president, and Francis Bowes Sayre, formerly an assistant district attorney of New York county, were married in the East room of the White House on Nov. 25, 1913.

A friend of the family said that the new baby probably will not be given the full name of the president. He will be named either "Woodrow Sayre" or "Wilson Sayre" unless there is a change of plan.

Poetry For Today

THE SINGER.

The singer sang his song. The listening throng,
Enraptured, sat in silence, breathless, tense.
It seemed as tho' an angel, bending close,
Had breathed into that mortal throat and heart
A kindling spark of liquid fire.

The singer lost himself in Song,
And souls athirst for melody divine
Wept inwardly for joy unspeakable,
And bowed and worshiped at the singer's shrine.

Then came a day
When envious Self, imperious, stalked along
And, grasping crushingly the heart-beats warm
Which angel might had put into the song,
With boastful pride proclaimed, "I am the Song!"

Then souls athirst for melody divine,
With heads bowed low, wept inwardly for grief
And turned away from that dishonored shrine.

SKIN OF THE FRUIT.

It Is Wise Not to Eat Apples or Pears Without Peeling Them.

Some people say that an apple does not taste right when the skin is removed. Some even go so far as to say there is danger in eating fruit that has come in contact with the steel of the paring knife, as the acid in the fruit is apt to produce some poison when it comes in contact with the metal. But whether these things are true or not, there is still greater danger in eating apples without peeling them.

The skin of the apple has always been more or less infested with germs of different types, and now our modern methods of fighting insects by spraying the trees are liable to leave poisonous deposits on it which will do our stomachs serious harm.

Arsenate of lead, lime and sulphur wash and a number of other spraying compounds used by fruit growers have been found to remain in considerable quantities on the skin of apples and pears until ripe and placed on the market. The action of such chemicals upon the tissues of the human body is very injurious.

Spraying the trees is giving us more perfect fruit and getting the grower better prices, but if you value your health you should never eat apples or pears without first removing the peels.

NAPOLEON VALUED TIME.

He Might Have to Lose Battles, but He Would Not Lose Minutes.

After forcing the army of Sardinia back toward Turin, Napoleon had scarcely taken possession of the beautiful Palace Salmator, at Cherasco, thirty-five miles from the Piedmontese capital, when an aged marshal from the Sardinian side came and informed the little general of the French that the king was about to propose terms of peace.

"Terms!" shouted the young commander in chief in startling tones, as he pounded the desk, "it is I who name terms. If you don't accept them at once Turin is mine tomorrow!"

Although the directory, sitting in far away Paris, had reserved the right for themselves and their trained diplomats to accept or reject terms, the young general could not delay operations for weeks while messengers were sent back and forth between the camp and the capital, so Bonaparte took it upon himself to arrange an armistice. He called a halt to all sparring for time by drawing out his watch and, tapping the dial with his forefinger, ordered them to sign immediately, remarking: "I may lose battles, but I will not lose minutes."—Condensed From "In the Path of Napoleon," by James Mangan.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil

An Ordinance To Be Enforced

He's at it again—that chronic expectorator—"spitting" is such an ugly word, we hate to use it!

But a short time ago, through the efforts of the Browning club, and by the way the beginning of its health movement, under the presidency of Mrs. Hopkins, and backed by municipal authority, large placards were posted all over the town, giving warning of the fine that was the penalty for expectoration on the street.

It was wonderful how that warning worked!

It was no meaningless notice, put up for effect, and many a man in the habit of spitting carelessly on the sidewalk, concluded it was easier to change his habit than to pay his fine.

There came a time—and that not long after the announcement that the spitting ordinance would be enforced, when the streets of Washington were a delight to the lover of good sanitation. Their cleanliness was the subject of general comment.

The memory of man is often short. It might be well to bring out these warning placards and remind the spitters that the same ordinance is on the statutes now and that Mayor Coffey is a firm believer in the enforcement of all ordinances.

The fact that there is both a state law and a city ordinance against expectoration on the streets and in public places, proves how obnoxious this habit is considered.

It would be bad enough if it were only a filthy, annoying habit, but when its success as a carrier of disease is realized, it becomes a dangerous menace that permits no license.

The germs of loathsome, deadly disease spring up wherever there is dried spittle; the wind blows them up from the streets; they lie in wait on dark stairways, where lack of sunshine fosters the deadly atom; they work their havoc wherever they can find lodgment.

Education today in regard to the danger of careless expectoration is too general to admit ignorance as an excuse.

Everyone knows that this dirty habit is an instigator of disease. If people wilfully ignore the claims of others to the right of healthy and cleanly surroundings, they ought to at least contribute the amount of the fine designated in the ordinance to help rectify the harm they have done.

There is no ordinance that ought to be more rigidly enforced than the one against spitting on the streets.

Suffrage Good For Women Whether They Want It or Not

By Miss MARY E. WOOLLEY,
President of Mount Holyoke College

WHEN student government was first introduced into the schools many of the students did not want it. They preferred to be governed by the faculty. The position of the anti-suffragists is somewhat the same. But student government has proved a good thing. Now the girls all like it and would not be without it. I believe the same would be true of

GOOD HOPE MAN MISSES SHIPMENT FROM CHILLICOTHE

Chillicothean is Held for Riffing Letter Which Good Hope Man Sent to Murphy Distilling Company and Enclosed Money for the "Goods"—John Weakly in Serious Trouble.

There is one man in or near Good Hope who recently sent a letter to Chillicothe for a shipment of booze and failed to get the "goods" on time—in fact it is claimed has not received them yet for the very good reason that his letter was riddled of the money enclosed.

When the shipment did not arrive the Good Hope man again communicated with the Chillicothe distilling concern, and an investigation disclosed the thief, who may soon face a United State Commissioner for robbing the U. S. mails.

The man is John Weakly, now held in the Chillicothe jail for the robbery. Weakly took mail from the Distilling company's office to the postoffice, and upon his return carried the incoming mail with him.

Shortly afterward the manager of the distillery received a letter from the anxious Good Hope man, and at once suspected Weakly of the crime. Weakly later was arrested while intoxicated, and confessed to the police officer that he had taken the letter and removed four one dollar bills and five dimes from the envelope.

The postal authorities have been notified and Inspector Smith has obtained a written confession from the man.

ORDERS AND FRIENDS HONOR THE DEAD

The funeral services of Mr. J. Frank Morgan were very largely attended at the residence Saturday afternoon, a full representation of lodge brothers, both K. of P.'s and I. O. O. F. joining with many friends in this last tribute of respect.

The services were most impressive under the auspices of Confidence lodge, K. of P., 22d Temple lodge, I. O. O. F., with Rev. F. E. Ross the officiating minister.

The music was furnished by the Imperial Degree Staff quartet, Dr. L. P. Howell, Rev. A. W. West, Messrs. E. H. Burch and H. C. Ireland.

After a very appreciative and appropriate talk the pastor read the following memoir:

MEMOIR.

John Frank Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Morgan, was born in Falmouth, Kentucky, July 1, 1877, and departed this life January 14, 1915, aged thirty-seven years, six months and thirteen days. Mr. Morgan in many respects has lived an exemplary life. In youth while a mere boy fourteen years of age he united with the Methodist Episcopal church and consecrated his life to the Creator who gave it. His ideals of home life were exemplified since his marriage to Miss Georgia Logan, January 26, 1897. Three loving and affectionate children came to bless this home, Wilbur, 16 years; Homer, 14 years, and Ethelyn, 10 years of age. Mr. Morgan's ambition was to provide a comfortable home for himself and family, which he has accomplished and this home was his shrine and the object of his greatest devotion. Next to his home he loved his business and by his earnest, honest and conscientious devotion to it, he won the respect of a very large patronage. He took great pride in establishing the most complete and up-to-date shop in the county. Frank Morgan as he was called, highly appreciated the companionship of his fellow-man and was a member of the Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias and Modern Woodman lodges of this city. He was also a member of The Imperial Degree Staff of Temple lodge and was always ready to contribute his part in its successful achievements. The deceased, beside his wife and three children, leaves his father and mother, two sisters, Mrs. B. H. Orr and Stella Knight Morgan, to mourn the loss of a real father, a devoted son and an honored brother. And while the community is particularly saddened by the death of one so young, seemingly in the prime of life, yet it will be remembered that Frank Morgan had accomplished more at the age of 37 years than most men who have had allotted to them their three score years and ten. His life has been a success and his work is ended. He has richly earned the rest of the faithful and true-hearted.

The Knights of Pythias conducted their ritual service at the residence, in charge of Chancellor Commander John Markley and Chaplain George Bryan. The I. O. O. F. held their ritual services, in charge of Noble Grand W. H. Himmler and Chaplain A. W. West, at the grave. The pallbearers were chosen from the K. of P. and I. O. O. F., and were Jerry Ferneau, James Hays, Geo. Davis, Ed Mershon, Scott Dison and Wm. Price. Among the large number of flowers were special designs from the I. O. O. F., basket carnations; Imperial Degree Staff, basket roses; K. of P., floral emblem; Washington Milling Co., casket spray roses; Modern Woodman, handsome design; Pythian Sisters, spray; Mite Society, spray; neighbors, basket; Freshman class of high school, spray. Relatives here from a distance to attend the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Logan and daughter, Covington, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Courtney, Dore Logan, Falmouth, Ky.; Mrs. B. H. Orr, Cincinnati; Miss Stella K. Morgan, New Orleans, La.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to extend to our friends and neighbors our sincere appreciation of the assistance rendered and sympathy extended at the death of our husband and father, J. F. Morgan and for the many beautiful floral tributes.

Mrs. Georgia Morgan and Family.

BIG DAY AT GRACE CHURCH

Large Audiences Attend Each of Several Meetings Held Yesterday With Mammoth Audience in Attendance Sunday Night—Meetings Continue This Week.

Large crowds attended the various meetings held at Grace church Sunday, and the Sunday evening audience packed the big edifice and many were turned away because further room was not available.

Following a large attendance at Sunday school, the auditorium quickly filled for the morning sermon, and in addition to the sermon given by Rev. Ross, three well known personal workers from Columbus addressed the audience.

These men are T. M. DeBruin, F. E. Kirkpatrick and H. L. Beckett, each of who spoke about ten minutes and told of the great change that has come to their lives since they became associated with the church, following the Billy Sunday revival.

The men spoke earnestly, and their words were of deep interest to everyone.

In the afternoon between 150 and 200 men attended a mass meeting which was addressed by the three men, and deep interest was manifested in all that was said. It was one of the best mass meetings for men held in the city in many months.

In the evening a union service, in which the Church of Christ, First Baptist and Grace church congregations united, was held. The attendance was the largest since the Conference held here last fall.

The principal address of the evening was made by Mrs. Daniel Shepardson, who was followed by Mr. Kirkpatrick in a short straightforward appeal to the unsaved.

Group E will have charge of the preliminary services tonight, and Prof. Wm. McClain is the chairman in charge.

SPECIAL SESSION OF COUNCIL TONIGHT

A special session of the city council will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock, and the Court street paving and the matter of a new city building, are scheduled to come up for disposition.

Considerable interest has been aroused by the contention on the E. Court street paving—whether it shall be 60 feet wide, 35 feet wide, or have a 20 foot parkway through the center.

Indications are that the matter of erecting a new city building may be indefinitely postponed owing to the financial condition of the city, and the fact that the expense of paving streets under the new plan will be very heavy, and since the commissioners have withdrawn objection to housing city prisoners, it is pointed out that no necessity for a new building now exists.

However, others claim that the city should have a new city building, and that they will work to that end.

WILL TRY YOUTHS IN JUVENILE COURT

Clifford Dailey and Arthur Lindsey, the two young burglars arrested at South Charleston and held to the Clark county grand jury under $500 bond, must face the juvenile court instead, according to the following excerpt from Sunday's Springfield Sun:

"Upon inquiry by telephone from Judge Allen, of Washington C. H., yesterday, Prosecutor Ballard was informed that both Clifford Dailey and Arthur Lindsey, two boys bound over to the grand jury by Mayor Ervin, of South Charleston, on a charge of burglary Friday afternoon and lodged at the county jail, are both less than 18 years of age.

"As a result of the investigation, both boys will be brought before the juvenile court, which has exclusive jurisdiction of all persons under 18 years of age.

"Judge Allen said that he had made a careful investigation and found that the Lindsey boy will not be 18 until April of this year, and that the Dailey boy is not yet 17 years of age. He said that Lindsey had received a lecture in his court only last week for some misconduct, but was discharged, as it was his first offense.

"The home of the boys is in Washington C. H. The charge against them arose from the burglarizing of the D. T. and I. depot, a general store and a flour mill. Little plunder was obtained."

A DUKE'S REVENGE

It Gave to Germany Her Most Distinguished Regiment.

THE DEATH'S HEAD HUSSARS.

Organized Originally by Frederick William of Brunswick, Napoleon's Deadly Foe, the Famous Body of Cavalry Fought Its Way to Renown.

The curt refusal of Napoleon I. to allow Frederick William, duke of Brunswick, to bury the body of his exiled father in his native land inspired the organization of the Death's Head hussars, the most famous regiment in the present German army.

Deeply moved by the ungracious act of the despotic Napoleon, Frederick William, after his first paroxysm of indignation and rage had subsided, vowed eternal vengeance against the French conqueror, and until the day of his death, which was June 16, 1815, on the field of Quatre Bras, he was Napoleon's most implacable foe in all the German states.

Brunswick being barred to him by the victories of the relentless French invader, Duke Frederick William repaired to Bohemia after his father's death. He was without funds, but through the efforts of his sister, then princess of Wales, English funds found their way to him, and he was enabled to set on foot the plans he had formed to revenge himself upon his enemy.

All Germany was then under Napoleon's foot. His armies had swept away all opposition. Prussia, Brunswick, Bavaria, Saxony, all the states were mere vassals of France. But though conquered or subjugated their hatred of the oppressor was intense, and underneath the surface a fire of hatred smoldered, which the duke helped to fan into the blaze that eventually sent Bonaparte to St. Helena.

The duke announced himself as Napoleon's foe. Men flocked to his standard. He organized and equipped 2,000 cavalymen and, in memory of his father, clothed them in black. A silver skull and crossbones adorned their hussar headdress, and the silver lace slashings of the jackets were placed to resemble the ribs of a skeleton.

"The Black Brunswickers" they were called. With the gallant duke at their head they began a guerrilla warfare that was a continual worry to the French armies. Von Stein, Scharnhorst and others gave them secret encouragement.

Through Saxony, Hesse and Hanover the troopers gobbled up and put to the sword French detachments. Recruits flocked to them. At Bernack the duke gave battle to the French General Junot and whipped him. All Germany thrilled at the romantic accounts of the daring of the terrible "Black Hussars."

A Saxon army was whipped at Zittau and another force at Halberstadt. A regiment had grown into an army, the only one Napoleon's troops could not corner and whip. The duchy of Brunswick was invaded and the French garrison alarmed. Leipzig was surprised and captured.

Until the battle of Wagram the duke and his hussars rode over Germany at will. That victory gave Napoleon more time to devote to them, and the duke was forced to flee to England. But the "Black Hussars," with the death's head on their caps, continued the war in scattered bands. They were welded into a brigade in 1814 and, as part of a division in the allied army commanded by the Duke of Brunswick, rode into Paris after Napoleon's down fall.

They fought again during the hard days. The Duke of Brunswick did not live to see Napoleon's complete humiliation. He died on the field of battle while trying to rally some recruits who started a stampede at the first French fire.

The fame of the hussars had reached such a point that the organization was continued in the Prussian army. Today its colonel is the crown prince of Germany, and among its officers are princes of a dozen reigning German families.

The regiment presents a splendid appearance on parade, its picturesque uniform, of which the skull and crossbones on the headdress are the most striking attractions, imparting to the dashing cavalymen a sinister and startling effect.—Kansas City Times.

COLLOSSAL "MAKE IN U. S. A." EXPOSITION

"Made in U. S. A." will be the predominating note of the Merchandise, Food, Drug and Chemical Exposition which will be held at Madison Square Garden, New York, January 18-23, 1915, under the auspices of the Drug and Chemical Exposition Co., Inc., and the Associated Clubs of Domestic Science.

Last January the same company at the same place gave the largest and most successful drug and chemical show ever seen in America, and the one planned for next January will be much wider in its scope and even more colossal in the variety and extent of its exhibits.

At their last New York meeting they passed the following resolutions: "Whereas, on account of the great European war, most of our importations have been withdrawn, and America is thrown largely upon her own resources; and

"Whereas, while we have been spending vast sums of money for these importations from abroad our faith in our country's resourcefulness is such that we are confident that we can produce all that is necessary for our own needs and comfort; and

"Whereas, we recognize in this crisis an opportunity for America to demonstrate the real capabilities of her industries; therefore, be it

"Resolved: That we, the members of the Associated Clubs of Domestic Science, do give our support to the advancement of American-made products of every kind, recognizing in this that we are working no hardship on any of the struggling nations of Europe, which need all their own production at home; and, be it further

"Resolved: That we, the members of the Associated Clubs of Domestic Science pledge our hearty indorsement of the 'Made in U. S. A. Exposition' to be given at Madison Square Garden, January 18 to 25, 1915, under our auspices and advise manufacturers and dealers to take advantage of this Exposition as an opportunity for revealing to the public the real extent of America's greatness and resourcefulness, and our capacity for taking care of ourselves at such a time as this."

In Social Circles

A dinner marking a family reunion was enjoyed by three brothers, Mr. Leighton Ellis, of Kansas City, Mo.; Messrs. D. W. Ellis and Berte Ellis, and the sons of Mr. D. W. Ellis, Messrs. Walter and Ernest Ellis Sunday at the Cherry hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. John Foster, of Bloomingburg, entertained with a handsome dinner Sunday in honor of Mr. Roy Foster and bride.

The guests were: Mr. Lewis Evans and family, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Allen, Mr. Joe Owens, of Manara; Miss Francis Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Foster and son, Loas Eugene, of Washington C. H.

Mrs. E. B. Hukill entertained at dinner Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tysor, of Gallatin, Tenn., and Mr. V. J. Dahl, in honor of Mr. Hukill's 53rd birthday.

The Young Matrons' Luncheon club enjoyed its fortnightly luncheon at the home of Mrs. P. C. Ballard Monday.

Mrs. Frank Bennett and Miss Lucile Weldon, of Circleville, were charming guests of the club.

The Hillery home, on South Fayette street, was brilliantly enftete Saturday evening when the daughter of the house, Miss Olive, entertained twenty of the Junior set with one of the most elaborate and thoroughly delightful affairs of the season.

Dancing and a variety of amusements including a unique modeling contest, in which Paul Wood won a box of chocolates, provided diversion for the merry evening.

The rose tint of the decorations were effective in graceful clusters of roses and in the elaborate course luncheon served by Cateress Woodson.

The fair young hostess, looking extremely pretty in pink crepe de chine, was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Thomas Hillery and Miss Marguerite Wilson.

The guests included Misses Elizabeth McDonald, Edith Worthington, Gretchen and Doris Willis, Helen Baker, Ruth Reid, Kathleen Davis, Aileen Hess, Dorothy Rogers, Gladys Fenner, Mallow Hall, Selsor Fenner, Richard Willis, Renick Allen, Howard Harper, Donald Ross, Arthur Lewis, Glen Griffiths, Robert McFadden, Paul Wood, Aloysius McDonald.

DIGGING A POST HOLE.

He Worked Faithfully and Cheerily, but Lacked One Essential.

He was a vigorous worker, and he was digging a post hole in the bed of a river. A post was to be placed in it as part of the extension of a wharf.

He worked hard and got rapidly deeper and deeper.

He struck stones, but he reached down and pried them up.

He got thoroughly soaked, but he grinned cheerfully.

He sang at his task and was an inspiration to all the other workmen.

Five o'clock came, but he faithfully finished his post hole, though it took him ten minutes longer. He was no time server.

Then he climbed, dripping, out on the bank and walked home, happy in the consciousness of good work accomplished.

But he did not put a post into the post hole, and when he came back the next morning he found the hole filled again with mud and completely obliterated.

However, he cheerfully went to work again, singing as he labored, and dug the hole once more.

And the company paid the bill.

SECRET OF SUCCESS.

Be Efficient and Do Things That Other People Do Not Do.

A man has a weary time awaiting to rise in the world by force of sympathy, by getting somebody else to pull him along. You see such people standing around expecting compassion and a lift from some who have succeeded.

But this is not the way success is attained. That comes by working for it, by being worthy of it, by doing one's best, if it comes at all. The world is full of failures because a man hangs back and depends upon others.

Efficiency is the greatest word in the language. There is no real progress without it. And what does efficiency consist of? Of sobriety, honesty, diligence, patience, happiness, unselfishness, good habits and putting in full time.

Of course a man can get rich by not caring for these. He can gamble, steal, defraud, pad payrolls and expense bills, borrow money and never pay. But such riches don't last. They drop a man pretty hard finally.

The only way is to start out in the world and do one's best without waiting to see what others do. As Steinmetz, the master electrician, said, "To earn $100,000 a year do things other people don't do."—Ohio State Journal.

Volcanoes and Disease.

Many strange and exaggerated accounts have been given of terrible diseases in human beings, lower animals and plants as a result of volcanic activity. In a prize essay by Dr. H. J. Johnston-Lavis it is shown that there is no direct connection with disease, but that volcanic outbursts may indirectly cause or increase epidemic disease in several ways. The poisonous fumes may have irritating and depressing effects on the eyes and throat. The disturbance of water courses may bring about the infection of wells and surface supplies with sewage, and interference with ventilation of houses may result from the accumulation of ejected materials. The moral depression from fear, with hunger from the cutting off of food supplies, may have the effect by lessening the resistance of the organization to infection.—Exchange.

Keeping His Secret.

When Lord Wellington was commander of an army in India a certain rich man offered him $500,000 for some secret information on a very important question. Wellington looked thoughtful a few moments, as if he were weighing the temptation. At length he said: "It appears that you can keep a secret, sir."

"Certainly," said the man, feeling sure that he had gained his point.

"So can I," said Wellington. Good morning, sir." And the man went away with a crestfallen air.

GUTIERREZ FLEES FROM THE CAPITAL

Garza Now Provisional President of Mexico.

SELECTED BY CONVENTION

New Ruler Issues Statement That Gutierrez In Advance of His Departure Had Ordered Evacuation of the City by All the Troops Held There. Carranza Forces Reported to Have Entered Mexico City.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Reports of the latest change at Mexico City were received here by the state department, the British embassy and the Carranza agency.

General Gutierrez abandoned the provisional presidency conferred upon him by the Villa-Zapata element and fled the capital without the formality of resigning his office. General Roque Gonzalez Garza, recently chosen chairman of the convention, immediately took charge.

One report stated that for a time the Mexican capital was in a turmoil and that a general outbreak of looting was feared. General Garza took effective measures for policing the city, however, and the situation is said to be fairly quiet.

General Garza in a statement declared that Gutierrez, in advance of his departure, had ordered the evacuation of the city by practically all the small force left there. This, Garza declared, would have left the city defenseless, and he immediately took charge in the interests of the preservation of the safety of the city itself. It is not clear from reports received here whether any of the newspapers obeyed Gutierrez' order to leave or not. Garza announced that he would adopt all necessary measures for the preservation of peace within the city and that any persons fomenting disturbances would be summarily dealt with.

The Constitutionalist agency received a dispatch from the border asserting that Carranza troops, under command of General Obregon, had occupied Mexico City. While this is not regarded as an impossibility, there is no confirmation of the report in official quarters. General Obregon was, when last reported, making his way toward Mexico City from Puebla, and it is known that a small force of Zapatistas constituted the only defenses of the capital.

Officials here were not in the least stirred by the latest development in the Mexican capital. For some time they have been prepared to expect anything, and regarded the flight of Gutierrez as quite in harmony with the spirit of the present conditions in Mexico.

The Constitutionalist agency received from Carranza a copy of his decree with respect to oil properties, accompanied by the explanation that no

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system.

They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. P. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color.

Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

NEW RULER OF MEXICO

General Garza, a Villa Man, Elected by Convention.

Mexico City, Jan. 18.—General Roque Gonzalez Garza was named provisional president of Mexico by the convention in session here, over which he has presided. The preceding provisional president, General Eulalio Gutierrez, together with Generals Blanco, Robles and Jose Vasconcelos, left Mexico City for Pachuco, where martial law has been declared by General Garza and the city is being patrolled by mounted police.

In electing General Garza the convention declared itself to be supreme, and until a new president is elected it has assumed all the legislative, executive and judicial powers.

General Garza was a member of the Villa-Carranza peace commission which tried early in the summer of 1914 to arrange a settlement between the "first chief of the revolution," and his army commander. General Garza has been known as a Villa man.

BRITISH FORCE LOST HEAVILY

Berlin, Jan. 18.—"The battle at Tanga, German East Africa, the greatest that has occurred in any of our colonies, was a veritable feat of arms," says a statement given out by the official press bureau, relative to the recently reported defeat of British forces there. The statement continues: "The enemy's landing force totaled 9,000 men and our forces numbered 2,000. Our losses were small. The enemy was beaten off with heavy loss."

RESOLUTIONS ARE DRAWN UP

Columbus, Jan. 18.—Machinery for investigations of state departments is to be provided by the assembly. Representative Frank H. Reighard of Fulton will offer the resolution creating a special joint committee to investigate the state banking department. A complete survey of the state payroll is called for in a resolution drawn up by Senator Howard. The standing committees of the house are to be reduced in number. Those to be dispensed with are the phraseology committee and the ways and means committee, which failed to find anything to do in the last house.

FOUR BURNED TO DEATH IN PHILA.

Philadelphia, Jan. 18.—Four persons were burned to death in a fire that destroyed their home in the foreign section of this city. Four others were injured, one seriously, when they plunged from the third story of the burning building. The dead and injured were all members of the family of Fred Skubinsky, who perished in a vain attempt to rescue his young children.

JARS RHODE ISLAND LEADER

Government Announces It Will Probe Alleged Election Frauds.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 18.—The announcement made from Washington that the department of justice had decided to investigate reports of bribery and corruption alleged to have been practiced in Rhode Island in the last November election, came as a complete surprise to the leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties, and there is considerable speculation as to the identity of the individual who has succeeded in so interesting the attorney general.

Rhode Island last fall went over to the Republicans, which fact, in addition to the disquietude of the wage workers, was attributed to the free use of money. While Rhode Island has a secret ballot system, this has never succeeded in thwarting vote manipulators, who were declared to have been very active in the November election. Generally there was free distribution of beer, after voters had been to the polls, and the law requiring saloons to be closed was dodged by saloon men, who openly peddled bottled goods in the vicinity of the polling places in the country towns.

There may be other matters possibly that are to be brought to the attention of the department of justice; generally they may have to do with towns normally Democratic, which gave Wilson big majorities, but which at this election went the other way.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Half New Banking Head.

Columbus, Jan. 18.—Governor Willis announced the appointment as state banking superintendent of Harry T. Hall of East Liverpool, to succeed George Walters of Portsmouth, whose name he withdrew from the senate last week. With the nomination is carried the selection of three other candidates for appointment in this department. They are B. F. Skidmore of East Liberty, cashier of the Hamilton bank there; R. F. Ambrose, assistant cashier of the Merchants' National bank at Hillsboro, and Dudley H. Foster of Toledo. Hall, the new banking head, is vice president of the Dollar Savings bank at East Liverpool and treasurer of the Ohio State Bankers' association.

New Buckeye Postmasters.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The nomination of F. M. Bushnell to be postmaster at Mansfield, O., has been sent to the senate. Other nominations of Ohio postmasters are: Ray E. Faber, at Pittman; N. C. Petrie, Rock Creek; W. A. Ault, Wadsworth; T. O. Armstrong, Middlepoint; E. W. Fisher, Sugar Creek; Walter Besst, West Lafayette; R. E. Jennings, West Milton; E. C. Wiseman, Bryan; J. E. Robbins, Jeffersonville; William Alexander, Miamisburg; Ira A. Deter, Pleasant Hill; F. J. Mitchell, Port Clinton; A. H. Austin, Ravenna.

Holland to Hold Job.

Columbus, Jan. 18.—Attorney General Edward Turner upheld the civil service act in a decision in the case of Dr. A. C. Holland, registrar of the bureau of vital statistics, for whom Secretary of State Charles Q. Hildebrand attempted to name a successor in the person of Dr. Morton W. Bland of Bellevue. The ruling assures Dr. Holland's continuance in office until the end of his term, Dec. 31, 1916, unless cause is found for his removal.

Enforced Blue Laws.

New Lexington, O., Jan. 18.—Not a cigar, stick of chewing gum, soft drink nor anything not a necessity could be purchased here Sunday. Mayor John W. Dougan enforcing the blue laws without a crack in the lid. Restaurants were allowed to sell food and drug stores sold nothing but medicine.

Robber's Victim Dies.

Cincinnati, Jan. 18.—Charles Campbell, a young man who was held up and shot by a robber, died at a hospital without having regained consciousness. The police are holding Elmer Isham, whom they arrested afterward in connection with the case.

Horrors of the Russian Exile System

By
W. BLANCHARD MOORE

Waiting Transportation to Siberia.

It has been my privilege to make the personal acquaintance of many of the Russian exiles who have been banished to the mines and to the perpetual snows of Siberia, and this knowledge has given well settled opinions regarding their character, surroundings, and the frightful nature of the punishment meted out to these exiles.

The history of the political exile system is most interesting and pathetic throughout. The first mention of exile in Russian legislation is in 1648, but companies of criminals were sent out to Siberia soon after its discovery and conquest. At that time the Russian criminal code was almost incredibly brutal and barbarous. Many of its details were too cruel and gruesome to relate. Men were impaled on sharp sticks, hanged and beheaded by hundreds, for offenses that would not now be regarded as capital in any civilized country, while lesser offenders were flogged with the knout, beaten with the bastinado, usually on the soles of the feet, branded with hot irons, suspended in the air by hooks, and mutilated by amputations, until they died a lingering and miserable death.

The government at length determined upon the Siberian exile system for two reasons: One, to rid the community of criminals, and two, to save the government the expense of caring for offenders. The vast, unpeopled stretches of Siberia also demanded a new policy: the development of the vast regions of the North.

Mutilation Abolished.

Toward the close of the seventeenth century, laws were passed abolishing personal mutilation as a punishment and substituting banishment to Siberia for the offender and his family. The most trifling offenses were seized upon to populate these regions, such as prize fighting, fortune telling, snuff-taking, begging or pretending to be in distress. Later in 1753 capital punishment was abolished and offenders were committed to perpetual exile at hard labor. The exiles were driven in troops like cattle to Siberia. It was a common sight to see a grim procession, headed by mounted soldiers, guarding prisoners with chains and fetters upon their legs, the clanking of which made a lugubrious noise. Others were secured by the hands to long iron rods, then would follow female prisoners, and after them the most touching part of the procession—the wives and children, whose husbands and fathers they chose to accompany into exile. Then followed the telegraphs, or rough wagons, transporting children, baggage, and prisoners too old or infirm to walk.

Various Classes of Exiles. Exiles are grouped into four classes: First, hard labor convicts; Second, penal colonists, both classes being deprived of all civil rights and banished for life; Third, persons indefinitely banished, retaining some civil rights and the possibility of one day returning; Fourth, women and children who voluntarily accompany loved ones to Siberia and are not personally involved.

Banishment.

Banishment in many cases is for the crime of writing, speaking, or for even the supposition of entertaining thoughts antagonistic to the government, which has determined to hold its place by the iron heel of oppression. Political offenders are tried by a secret tribunal and no reports of the trial follow. The suspect is made to vanish at once from the face of the earth like a pebble cast into the water. A man may be quietly seated in his home when the fatal touch on the shoulder summons him away forever. When the sentence is once passed, there is no appeal to a higher court, or no communication whatever with the outer world. Some of these exiles are compelled to labor like beasts of burden in mines. Others are sent to the cold and sterile regions of the far North. In those desolate areas it is difficult to describe the horror of the monotony and emptiness of life. As the leaden hours pass often the mind becomes unbalanced by the lack of proper exercise and variety. Sometimes this develops into a form of melancholy and often hysteria, which is especially prevalent in those who remain for any length of time in this arctic inferno.

The attention of the whole world should be focused upon these existing conditions, that this great, open sore may at last be healed and that into these dark regions the light of a better and more humane civilization may happily find its way.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Spasmodic Croup.

Spasmodic croup is a symptom, not a disease. In young children the nervous system is irritable. The slightest infection of the larynx, the slightest catarrhal attack or so called "cold," is liable to cause a spasmodic contraction of the throat muscles—croup. Spasmodic croup comes on only at night, when the child is asleep. The reason the attack comes on at night is simply because the air is too warm and close at night. A child sleeping in a cold, well ventilated room or on a porch never suffers with croup. And the quickest remedy for the attack is a full supply of cold, fresh air from open windows. The worst cases of croup doctors see—and it is becoming less common every day—are in hot, stuffy bedrooms among the poorer class, people who are commonly supposed to suffer most from "exposure."

Remedies that stop an attack of spasmodic or catarrhal croup are: 1. Large moist compresses applied cold and allowed to remain on for an hour—on the throat. 2. Lots of moist, cold air. 3. If the breathing becomes very labored the spasm may be relaxed by a dose of syrup of ipecac—one teaspoonful, repeated in twenty minutes if vomiting or relief is not obtained. When a child is subject to attacks of catarrhal or spasmodic croup, that proves the parents don't give the child enough outdoor air.

The "Inthemis."

"Well, James Henry William, did you enjoy yourself at the seaside?" "Yes, teacher, very much. I liked the sea, but I couldn't find the inthemis." "The what, James Henry William?" "The inthemis, teacher; where it says in the Bible, 'The sea and all that in them is.'"—London Chronicle.

Unfair Comparison.

"Pa, when is a man well to do?" "When he can afford to spend as much in a year for his clothes as his wife does in a month for hers."—Chicago Record-Herald.

FIERCE BATTLE IN CAUCASIA

More Than 36,000 Men Reported Killed, Wounded or Captured in the Engagement Fought Near Kara-Urgan—Germans in Poland Furiously Assailing the Russian Lines—Operations in the East.

London, Jan. 18.—Russia struck a second crushing blow at the Ottoman forces with the annihilation of the Eleventh Turkish army corps near Kara-Urgan, in the Caucasus.

This victory for Emperor Nicholas' troops, who have killed or captured more than 36,000 men in this battle, is a sequel to the double Turkish defeat two weeks ago, which stemmed the attempt to invade Russia from the south.

Tiflis sent the following report to Petrograd: "The army of the Caucasus has covered its flags with glory by a fresh heroic exploit, having completely annihilated the Eleventh Turkish army corps, with the exception of several insignificant elements, which are fleeing in disorder. We have captured all the artillery of this corps."

The Eleventh Turkish army corps had made its way with great difficulty from Erzerum to reinforce the remnants of the Tenth corps, retreating from the north. The Tenth corps was cut to pieces in the Russian victory recently at Sari Karnysh, where the Ninth corps surrendered. The First corps the same day was surrounded at Ardahan.

While the main Russian army has been busy repelling what Grand Duke Nicholas in his official report describes as a series of violent attacks by Field Marshal Von Hindenburg to break his way through to Warsaw, other Russian forces have stormed and taken Kirilibaba pass, on the borders of Transylvania, and have made further progress in their advance along the right bank of the Vistula toward the German frontier.

The Germans in force have delivered seven successive attacks, which developed into desperate bayonet fighting, on the Russian lines on the left bank of the Vistula, and have succeeded in taking one of the Russian advance trenches.

Farther south there have been similar attacks, in each case preceded by heavy artillery engagements. The Russians have succeeded in silencing the heavy Austrian guns which, from the banks of the Dunajec, have been bombarding the town of Tarnow.

HAVE 800,000
WAR PRISONERS

Amsterdam, Holland, Jan. 18.—Official reports state that the prisoners of war in Germany and Austria now number 800,000. The Cologne Gazette compares this figure with 200,000 prisoners which it asserts are held by the allies.

The German official report gives the following figures of prisoners interned in Germany: French, 3,459 officers, 215,905 men; Russians, 3,575 officers, 306,294 men; Belgians, 612 officers, 36,852 men; British, 492 officers, 18,824 men. These totals do not include prisoners now en route to concentration camps or a portion of those captured in Russian Poland. The Austrian prisoners are estimated at 200,000.
The total of 800,000 is more than double the total of the Franco-Prussian war.

ALLIES CLAIM
THE ADVANTAGE

Paris, Jan. 18.—Severe fighting in Flanders, near Arras, in the region of Perthes and north of the farm of Beausejoil, with an advantage for the allies, is reported in the official communiques of the French war office. At Nieuport the Belgians and French pushed forward and drove the Germans from their entrenched line in the sand dunes, at the same time destroying a fort from which the enemy had been debouching and doing considerable execution.

Quiet still prevails at Soissons, but farther to the east, at Troyon, the Germans made an attack, but were checked. The official communique also reports that the allies' artillery is again proving its superiority over German ordnance. Operations in Alsace are apparently at a standstill.

According to a Berlin official report the allies lost 150,000 men in operations in Belgium and northern France since the first of December.

PICTURES OF BATTLES.

Warfare Has Always Been a Popular Subject For Artists.

From the earliest days of history war has given inspiration to the artist, and the work of his hands comes down to us on the walls of ancient Egypt, worn with the passing of thousands of years; from the ruined temples of antique Greece, built centuries before the Christian era. The picture writing of primitive and savage peoples describes exploits of war; many archaic war pictures, brought to view after ages of burial under desert sands, bear much similarity to Indian drawings of our own near time and land.

Once, years ago, away up on the Poplar river, in Montana, I bought, bartered for, I suppose I should say, as the purchase was made mainly by the medium of tea, tobacco and sugar—a "painted" robe right off the back of the war chief of a band of Yanktonais-Sioux our troops had "rounded up" and brought into the agency. The skin was a fine "black bull," tanned on the underside to the softness of the finest chamolins leather and decorated with naive pictorial representations of the deeds of war of old Kill-Them-In-A-Hole—as the soldiers translated the name given the chief from some episode in his murderous career—which in color, in grace and firmness of line were curiously like pictures from the pencil of some artist of the Egypt of old.

The glory of war is the theme; the exaltation of the sovereign, the conqueror, forms the chief motive of the war picture of antiquity. The monarch was the hero before whose terrible sword all foes gave way, to whom victory came through his personal might and prowess. The warriors of the Greeks are shown as models of virile strength and grace; their attitudes in the fury of combat lost nothing of artistic beauty in the realism of the rendering. The influence of the Greek masters of their art is evident in battle pictures of a time two scores and more centuries later—Rufus Fairchild Zogbaum in Scribner's.

Judgment Applied by the National Board in Effect

IN ALL NEW ENGLAND ALSO

John M. Casey, License Commissioner, Declares the Restrictions Imposed by the National Board of Censorship Are Conservative, Impartial and Constructive—Must Vise Pictures the City of Culture Sees.

[By John M. Casey, License Commissioner, Boston, Mass.]

I have carefully investigated the standards enforced by the National Board of Censorship and these standards are being insisted upon in Boston. They are conservative, impartial and constructive. They fairly represent the decisions of the public. The work that has been done in this city to keep the picture films on a conservative plane has been duplicated by civic committees, mayors, licensing bureaus, police authorities and groups of citizens in other parts of the country. The picture houses in Boston know that we mean business and they do not risk money in attempting to evade the requirements. All pictures shown in Boston must pass the voluntary National Board, and all theatres must show evidence of such approval when they are called upon to do it.

If Boston fails to secure pictures that other cities have, it is because the agencies for those pictures have failed to obtain the indorsement which the mayor insists upon. Most of the large manufacturers, however, consult the National Board before making films over which any question would arise as to the possibility of indorsement. Those manufacturers who do not, and whose pictures have not passed the National Board, cannot do business in Boston.

In making the above statement, Mr. Casey while speaking only for the city of Boston, really voices the sentiment of all New England, which enforces the same standards.

"The activity of M. A. Neff, president of the Ohio division of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, Robert F. Wilson and Harry Vestal, members of the Ohio Board of Censors, and others in the incorporation and establishment of a trade magazine," says the Cleveland "Plaindealer," "was condemned in unqualified terms by exhibitors of Local No. 1 at the meeting on Wednesday, October 23. Resolutions were drafted demanding that if Mr. Neff and his associates continue their interest in the publication, they resign from official capacities in the league and on the Censor Board."

"These resolutions will be sent to all concerned and to the manufacturers of films, projecting machines and theatre accessories, as proof of the fact that Mr. Neff's paper has no official sanction and is not the official organ of the Ohio exhibitors."

"Ben J. Sawyer, chairman of the committee on political activities, announced that he had secured the pledges of both aspirants to legislative vote to have the act creating an Ohio board of censors repealed at the earliest opportunity."

MILLIONS SEE
THIS SEAL DAILY

It is the Official Seal of the National Board of Censorship.

If it were possible to assemble in one place all the people who have seen the above seal, the combined armies of the world would sink into insignificance in comparison.

It is the official seal of the National Board of Censorship of Motion Pictures. It is shown on pictures that have been passed upon by the National Board, and that means 95 per cent. of all that are shown in the United States. Its use is not compulsory, but the year 1915 will see its universal adoption.

Formerly only the words, "Passed by the National Board of Censorship" were used. Some unscrupulous producers of pictures not up to the Board's standard, and consequently not shown to it, used this announcement.

ment without authority. Recently the Board has adopted this signed, copyrighted seal. The unauthorized use of it is a forgery and will be prosecuted.

One of the keenest advertising men in the country has estimated that it would cost a manufacturer of baked beans, or other commodity, ten million dollars to make his trademark and slogan as familiar to the people of the United States as is the above seal. It stands for clean pictures.

Foresight Defined.

The children had read the word foresight in the reader, and the teacher was endeavoring to make it plain.

"Foresight," she said, "is looking ahead. Now, Freddie, you give me an example of foresight if you can."

"Well, foresight would be not to eat too much breakfast when you knew you were going out into the country to your grandmother's for dinner," explained the boy.—Indianapolis News.

NOTED MOVIE MAN SPENDS DAY IN CITY

Comes From Chicago to Close Deal With Hugh C. Weir For Filming New Serial—Was a Promoter of the "Million Dollar Mystery"—Talks on the Movies and Scenario Writing.

Mr. G. E. Still of the Syndicate Film Corporation of Chicago, and one of the promoters of the "Million Dollar Mystery," spent Sunday in this city to conclude arrangements with Hugh C. Weir for the filming of Mr. Weir's new moving picture serial. Mr. Still returned to Chicago last night, making the trip to Washington only for the purpose of going over the details of the new play with the author. While the title and details of the new serial have not yet been made public, Mr. Still expressed himself as very enthusiastic concerning it, and was convinced that it will score an unusual success. The play will probably be released in 12 installments of two reels each, and will carry with it a large prize feature contest on the order of "The Million Dollar Mystery," a concluding installment of two reels being written and produced after the conclusion of the contest. This will be the first moving picture serial since the famous "Million Dollar Mystery" with a prize contest feature. It is understood that the new serial will contain both a strong comedy feature and a vein of romantic adventure, and Mr. Still declares that it is absolutely different from anything ever offered to the public.

In an interview with a Herald reporter, Mr. Still gave a great deal of interesting information concerning recent developments in the moving picture field. "Better plays than ever will be produced," he said. "The demand is for higher quality. The day of sensational melodrama is over. The public demands productions of real merit, clean and wholesome in tone. The moving picture theatre is here to stay. But it will give better and cleaner and higher class attractions. These attractions demand talent of a high order, and the picture companies are constantly looking for such talent."

"I believe there will be more serials than ever produced, and more big feature productions, but they will be or an order that will insure success. 'The Million Dollar Mystery' made a tremendous record, paying one hundred and seventy per cent dividends on the investment. Other serials will have to be just as good, and the companies know it."

When asked what he thought of the chances of the unknown writer in photo play writing, Mr. Still said that the demand of the various producing companies is more and more for trained authors, with a thorough experience in plot-building, and a knowledge of technical construction. "However, any person with really new, original ideas can make a success in photo play writing. It is the idea, and not the reputation that counts. But it is astonishing how few original ideas we receive. Out of five hundred manuscripts sent to us in a week, there are often not ten with even the promise of success in them. When a film company does receive anything worth while, however, you can be sure that it goes after it."

It is interesting to note that Mr.

Weir's scenario was submitted to Mr. Still exactly as hundreds of others, received at his office each week. Within an hour after reading it, he was dictating a special delivery letter to the author, followed by his personal visit to this city Sunday.

The Syndicate Film Corporation is a union of a number of the largest film companies in the country for the production of feature plays. Its members include the Essanay, American and Selig companies in Chicago and several companies in the east.

The Pecan.

It is interesting to record that the first grafting of a pecan tree was accomplished by a negro slave, and it is doubtful whether any other member of the black race has ever performed an economic service to this country that is so signal in its importance. In 1847 Antoine, the slave gardener of Telesphore J. Boman of Louisiana, grafted sixteen trees of the variety that is now known as the Centennial. He later succeeded in grafting 110 other pecans, and these were the only grafted nut trees in America before 1865.—Archibald Rutledge in Outing.

SHUN LOOSE SHOES.

They Give the Feet as Much Trouble as the Pinching Kind.

Seven persons out of ten suffer excruciating pain at one time or another with their feet. A single corn no larger than a grain of sand can take all the snap and vitality right out of you.

Two-thirds of modern foot troubles are due to the fact that almost every one—man, woman and child—wears shoes too loose. The shoe itself may be correct as to size and shape, but it is not fastened tight at the only point of control—namely, the instep.

When you set your foot upon the floor or pavement in the act of walking the shoe adheres, and if it be loosely fastened over the instep the foot pushes down into the toe of the shoe. At certain spots on the foot this slipping causes friction. These spots are the soles of the feet, the tops, ends and inner sides of the toes, the great and little toe joints and occasionally even the back of the heel.

When the friction thus caused is continued hour after hour and day after day one or more of these spots are almost sure to become inflamed and sore. A slight thickening, called a "callous," is formed. As the friction and pressure go on the resulting callous may thicken up unevenly. Then it is called a corn.—Woman's Home Companion.

Why is it? That a legless man can "put his foot in it?"

That persons who are "consumed by curiosity" still survive?

That frequently a sinking fund is used to meet a floating debt?

That straining the voice is not the proper way to make it clearer?

That we speak of a stream running dry when the only way it can run is wet?

That wives should expect their husbands to foot the bills without kicking?

That we talk of some one "going straight to the devil" when he has to be crooked to go there?—Boston Transcript.

In conversation confidence has a greater share than wit.—Rochefoucauld.

LOCALS DEFEATED IN QUEEN CITY

Fourteen points behind their opponents, the local Y. M. C. A. Basketball five finished in defeat Saturday night in a stiff game with the Christ Church team of Cincinnati in the gym. of the latter. The final score was 39 to 25, and not bad at that.

Washington started in fine, running away with a good lead, but along about the last part of the first half the Queen Cityans closed in on them, after a few brilliant plays, and assuming the lead, maintained it to the finish. Local fans, witnessing the game, say the players were pretty evenly matched in floor work and that the difficulty of the locals was in finding the basket.

A decided feature of the game was the foul throwing of "Dad" Smith. "Dad" put eleven out of thirteen through the net, the best record ever made on the Christ Church floor, and the latter, by the way, has seen some pretty fast basketball.

The line-ups were as follows: Christ Church—Doyle and Kreek, guards; Koebel, Alberts and Lichtendal, forwards; Mall center.

Washington—H. Smith, Mobley and Kler, forwards; Peterson, Hughes and Schlabbach, guards; "Dad" Smith, center.

Don't ask Duffee if he can repair your shoes this way or that way; just tell him what you want, when you want it and he will do the rest. Umbrellas repaired and recovered. Duffee Shoe Shop, Court street, by Adams Express office. We give rebate stamps.

NO NEW CASES IN GREENE COUNTY

Those in charge of the outbreak of foot and mouth disease in Greene Co. believe that they now have the epidemic under control, and that if proper care is taken no new cases will develop.

Sixteen head of cattle and an equal number of hogs were killed and buried in quicklime on the Fred Miller farm near Port William, Saturday, and the work of preparing for the slaughter of the other affected herds is well under way.
